Enroll Now For Free CRT Financial Literacy Workshops

Learn about budgeting, savings, investment planning and rebuilding credit

HARTFORD - Back by popular demand, Community Renewal Team's Financial Literacy Institute is enrolling now for its fall semester. CRT's 2014 Financial Literacy Institute offers individuals who may be faced with financial hardship, struggling to pay bills or just looking for ways to save more for a rainy day a chance to learn from financial experts, guest speakers and educators on how to budget, save and build wealth.

In its fifth year providing financial literacy workshops, CRT offers participants access to leading financial experts who will address how to combat the financial stress of underemployment and unemployment, investment planning, establishing or rebuilding credit and how to protect yourself and your assets through insurance.

CRT's Financial Literacy Institute semester begins September 2, 2014, and concludes with a graduation ceremony on December 9, 2014. Classes will be held every Tuesday, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at 330 Market St., Hartford, CT.

CRT financial fitness coaches will use a variety of teaching tools suited for adult learners, including assignments and homework that will be of practical use in the students' real life.

Anyone interested in this opportunity should contact CRT Financial Literacy Coordinator Andrea Hardy no later than July 14, 2014, by email: HardyA@crtct.org ; or by mail: CRT C/o Andrea Hardy, 330 Market St., Hartford, CT 06114.

For questions or more information, call CRT at (860) 560-5600.
